LAS POSITAS
COLLEGE

Welcome to Spring!

Las Positas College Community Education

I have been working in Community Education for 18 years at Las Positas College. I've worked with countless instructors, registered thousands of students, and programmed hundreds of classes. Every semester, and especially in the new year, I get excited about the classes that we are able to bring to the Tri-Valley Community: Phlebotomy, Spanish, Belly Dance, Leadership, Notary, Data Analysis, Drawing.

I am a lifelong learner, and I want to take every class we offer! I am continually proud of the classes and content in this program, of the instructors who have the passion to do this work both locally and statewide, and of our students who continue to support our programs and who are passionate about learning.

This Spring, take a class with us, and renew your love of learning! Lifelong learner? We're here for you!

In Learning,
Frances DeNisco
Program Coordinator

"What we learn with pleasure, we never forget."

Web Development: JavaScript

Now that you’ve accomplished creating a website using HTML & CSS, it’s time to turn our attention to another common scripting language that is used to make websites dynamic; that is, allowing users to interact with your web pages - JavaScript. While learning about JavaScript, you’ll also gain some foundational knowledge common to all programming languages. By the end of this session, you’ll be able to: discuss what is meant by dynamic content; perform essential programming language tasks; create simple JavaScript programs; use JavaScript to set up alerts and respond to events, to read input, and to change HTML, create slideshows; and conduct basic JavaScript testing. Progressive

AWB527 3/16-3/30 Sat 10:00am - 1:00pm $225

Web Development: CSS & Responsive Designs

While HTML and JavaScript are very useful for web development, they don’t exactly make attractive looking websites - that’s where cascading style sheets or CSS comes into play. CSS is used to graphically design and layout web pages. By the end of this session, you’ll be able to: discuss common mistakes in designing a website; identify and apply CSS basics like purpose and syntax; use CSS properties to control fonts, colors, layouts, and other common properties; differentiate between in-line, internal, and external CSS; and practice and test your cascading style sheets. Furthermore, you’ll complete the Capstone project through adding CSS, responsiveness and navigation. Progressive

Certified Staging Professionals Home Staging Course with Design Star Finalist Cathy Hobbs

Most home buying decisions are made within seconds of stepping through the front door. Professional home stagers prepare property for resale by setting the scene throughout the house to create immediate buyer interest, thereby increasing the chances for a more timely and profitable sale. 3-day course provides the foundation for those wanting to start a career or own a business in real estate property staging. The Certified Staging Professional program is a blend of property staging processes, interior redesign techniques, along with business, marketing and communication for effectively staging a house for sale. The CSP® program is intensive and covers comprehensive instruction in the steps and information necessary to become a successful real estate stager. The fee includes a 400-page manual and an on-site, hands-on work experience in a property for sale. For more information about CSP® certification, go to <http://www.csptaining.com> CSP® is a charter member of the Real Estate Staging Association, RESA, and independent third-party trade association of real estate stagers. Cathy Hobbs

Helping Older Children Become Responsible and Independent

Lack of responsibility is a common complaint of parents of older teens and young adults. We expect our children to get a good education, grow up, and move away from home. Many children struggle with this. Problems may begin with a high school student performing below his ability or may show up after graduation where the child seems unmotivated to work hard in college, learn a trade, or get a job. As parents, there is much we can do to help our children learn to be responsible and become independent. This class will teach you what to do in the teen years to help your child successfully navigate the path to becoming an independent and self-sufficient adult. It will also cover how to help a "failure to launch" child make the difficult transition from adolescence to adulthood (being independent and self-sufficient). As a parent you have a critical role in this process (Suitable for parents of children 13 to 29). Tom Dozier

Is the Sound of Others Chewing a Problem for you?

That's Misophonia. Misophonia or Selective Sound Sensitivity Syndrome is common but mostly unknown. It affects 10-15% of adults, and usually begins in childhood. With misophonia, a person hears a common sound, such as another person eating, and is immediately filled with anger (and sometimes disgust). Misophonia includes similar extreme responses to visual stimuli, such as the sight of a person chewing or a person jiggling their leg. This class will help you understand misophonia and effective management techniques. Current treatment options will also be discussed. Tom Dozier
