

Guided Pathways

Main Initiatives for 2020-2021

Quick Background

The last two years we have looked at our own LPC data, conducted inquiries, collaborated across campus in task forces that have lead to some exciting initiatives... for this year!

A Guided Pathways Projects for 2020-2021

Capitalizing on work last year where we mapped 85%+ of our programs, degrees and certificates... this year we will be working on:

- Development of the “student facing” academic program maps which are interactive and linked to careers and academic clusters on our campus. Explore technology options, including in collaboration with Cal State East Bay.
- Development of career resources that provide recommendations to students about programs of study that match their skills and interests.

A Guided Pathways Projects for 2020-2021

Cross-campus task forces will work collaboratively on:

- Exploring and advocating for new student onboarding activities to help students enter college and identify their career earlier.
- Working on how we can streamline and clarify the onboarding application and registration process.

If you are interested in being a part of this important work, please contact the Guided Pathways Student Service Lead Angella VenJohn for more information!

A Guided Pathways Project for 2020-2021

A Persistence Project that is faculty driven, modeled after another community college (Oakton) that saw retention rates jump on average 24% and faculty satisfaction increase with participation.

Leads for this Project:

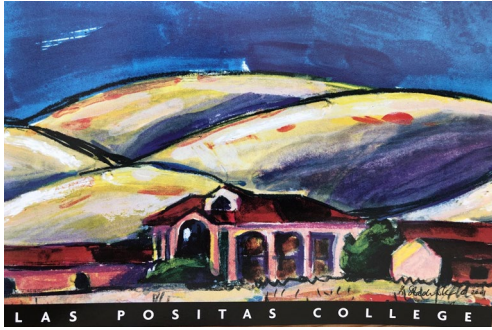

- Jim Ott, English full-time faculty
- Jeff Judd, Biology part-time faculty
- Jared Howard, Counseling full-time faculty

Stay tuned for various ways to be involved in this exciting project!

Student-Focused Work

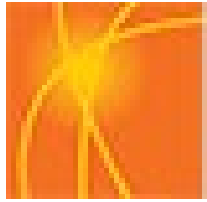

There will be a lot of opportunities for students to share their experience and input, from sometimes involvement to ongoing involvement. We are challenging everyone to bring to any initiative or Steering Committee a student, so that students are engaged and at the table as we collaboratively work to improve the student experience.

We are in the process of interviewing students to fill 5 paid student work positions to be involved in collaborating and moving the work forward.

CA Demonstration Project

- To implement an integrated, institution-wide approach to student success by creating structured educational experiences that support each student from point of entry to attainment of certificate or degree.
- 6 institutes (fall & spring) over the next three years.
- LPC was one of the 20 California Community Colleges accepted!
- LPC will send a team (President, VP, Deans and faculty) to the 6 institutes to receive guidance and support from other pathways coaches. It will also allow for time to plan for Guided Pathways work on our campus.

Leading from the Middle (LFM)

- LFM is a project-based, leadership development program, focused on professional development to build skills and strategies in middle community college leaders to advance lasting reform efforts on their campus
- This is our third-year as an LFM Cohort College where we have received the support to collaboratively work on Guided Pathways related initiatives with an LPC cross-discipline team
- This year's LFM Team chose a career development project. Participating Members include: Joel Gagnon, Erick Bell, Angella VenJohn, Francis DeNisco, Elizabeth David, and Kristy Woods

East Bay College Agile Network

“East Bay
CAN”

- Collaboration between Cal State University East Bay and Chabot-Las Positas District to strengthen, streamline and leverage existing relationships and initiatives across the three colleges to remove barriers to student success
 - Coordinate academic transfer and financial counseling across the three campuses
 - Students know and can access resources at any one of the three campuses
 - Share analytics across campuses to seamlessly provide support and interventions to students
 - Invest in advisors to guide students in setting goals and achieving key milestones
- Funded by a $350,000 Koret Foundation gift
